Mondale slams Hart in Pennsylvania vote

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Walter F. Mondale easily won the Pennsylvania primary Tuesday, defeating a fading Gary Hart and rolling past the halfway mark in his quest for the delegates needed to capture the Democratic presidential nomination.

The Rev. Jesse Jackson apparently was winning Philadelphia; he sought a strong third-place showing statewide to underscore his fast-increasing clout within the party.

A Mondale victory would ratify earlier industrial state results in Illinois and New York—and leave Hart trailing further behind in the competition for national nominating delegates. In the first returns, Mondale led for 91 delegates, Hart 7. A total 172 were being apportioned.

Mondale claimed victory and said, "I'm encouraged to believe that what I have been saying about where I want to take the country, the differences as the public perceives them, is helping me gain momentum toward the nomination" and victory over President Reagan in November.

Hart said where Mondale had strong labor support in the industrial states, the union connection would prove a disadvantage in the Western states to come.

"Tonight, we may not have won in Pennsylvania, but we are going to win the nomination of this party—and we are going to win the presidency," he said.

Thompson proposes higher 1985 education budget

by Kevin McDermott and Michael Kuo

Gov. James Thompson's fiscal year 1985 budget recommendations for higher education may amount to more money than last year, but education officials throughout the state would like to see even more money come their way.

Although Thompson's recommendations for higher education spending in fiscal 1985 amounted to an increase of 5.6 percent from last year's budget, the Illinois Board of Higher Education's recommended increases totaled more than 11 percent.

Currently, higher education funding bills—introduced at IBHE amounts—are in the hands of the Senate Appropriations II Committee, where discussion is slated for April 24.

Although the IBHE earlier presented Thompson with specific allocation levels for the governor's budget proposal, IBHE Executive Director Richard Wagner said Tuesday he would rather see the committee, where Democrats hold a 10-7 majority, approve the levels closer to IBHE hopes.

"Within the context of the Governor's budget total of a .06 percent increase for all state government, the allocation made for higher education is a good one," Wagner said. "But the difference between IBHE levels and the governor's levels represents the difference that must ultimately be met."

Wagner concluded he would "rather" see higher education appropriations than the governor's level.

Board of Governor's Executive Director Donald Walters agreed, saying, "In the governor's version we're losing out on a higher level of faculty salary increases."

Faculty salary increases were discussed at Eastern

Monday at a meeting of the University Professionals of Illinois.

The IBHE originally recommended an increase of seven percent in faculty and staff salaries as compared to Thompson's proposed five percent hike.

Carol Elder, UPI executive vice president for the Board of Governor's Council, said, "Even the IBHE recommendations are inadequate to maintain quality education."

"We firmly believe there is a need for increases," she added. "We think that higher education has been cut badly enough over the years."

State Sen. Max Coffey, R-Charleston, disagreed, however, saying that "under the circumstances" Thompson's figures were acceptable.

Coffey said the increases for higher education spending were among the highest in Thompson's budget plan. "I felt that higher education didn't do too poorly, based on other areas of government."

Eastern President Stanley Rives said IBHE recommendations would be preferable to Thompson's proposed level of higher education spending, but added, "I can understand why the governor is making his recommendation" at the lower level.

Rives said economic problems in Illinois—such as increased unemployment—could account for Thompson's smaller budget.

"To be fair, the governor has attached a high priority to higher education," Rives said, adding "I don't consider" the higher education budget proposal "a disaster."

Judith Erwin, press secretary for State Senate President Phil Rock, D-Oak Park, said Tuesday, "It's fairly normal for the IBHE to come in with a higher recommendation than the governor" because Thompson is addressing budgets for every area while the board is concentrating on its own budget.

"Higher education is not considered in a vacuum," she added, but said in the "bigger picture, the bottom line is we have to pass a balanced budget by the end of the session."

The board recommended an 8.7 percent increase in spending at Eastern, compared to Thompson's hike of only 5.7 percent. In both cases, the percentage of increase at Eastern was higher than any of the other four BOG schools.

Elder said the reason for the higher recommended increases at Eastern is its underfunding during the past several years.

"Eastern was operating more efficiently" than other BOG schools, Elder said, adding that, because Eastern was stretching state money further, it has been "underfunded for some time."

Senate constitution amendments combined on ballot

by Nancy Bridges

Several proposed amendments to the Student Senate constitution will be combined and listed as one item on the student government election ballot April 18.

Senate Speaker Ron Wesel said the question on the ballot will read, "Are you in favor of the constitutional revisions?"

The amendments, which must receive two-thirds approval of the students who vote before being added to the constitution, were combined into a single question because the senate "didn't want it to get too confusing for the voters," he said.

Audrey Berman, elections committee co-chairman, noted that the referendum question is being placed on the same ballot as the presidential race.

The constitutional revisions include lowering the cumulative grade point average for senators and executive officers from 2.3 to 2.0, requiring executive officers to be enrolled for 12 semester hours, and allowing the speaker to call special meetings or cancel scheduled meetings, with the consent of the adviser, in case of an emergency.

Student Body President John Cole said he approved of lowering the required GPA for senators and executive officers. "I've been wanting to see it for a long time," he said.

Wesel said he believed that requiring a senator to carry 12 class hours was too much and that it prevents a senator of using the option to drop a course.

In addition, the revisions also include making the administrative assistant for collective bargaining an appointed position only every third year, with the executive vice president performing the collective bargaining duties the other two years.

Cole said he was in favor of limiting the collective bargaining position. He added he did not "think we need to pay (an administrative assistant for collective bargaining) a full semester's tuition just to go to 6 or 7 meetings."

Another revision would permit the student body president's appointment, replacing an executive officer who resigns after the fifth week rather than the eighth week of the spring semester, to remain in office until the regular spring elections are conducted.

Wesel said he was in favor of this change from eight weeks to five weeks because if a special election is conducted eight weeks into the spring semester, only about two weeks remain before the regular spring elections.

Other revisions included in the package are necessary to clarify the constitution, but involve little change in procedure, Wesel said.

Copies of the constitutional revisions are available for in the student government office, on the University Union bulletin boards and in the reference room of Booth Library, Wesel noted.

In addition, copies of the revisions will be posted at the polling places on election day, he said.

Escapees caught in Tennessee

FORT PILLOW, Tenn.—Two of three dangerous inmates who fled a prison work detail were recaptured Tuesday in some brush in Tipton County near Covington, authorities said.

The two fugitives who were recaptured were identified as Danny Miller and Tony Sexton, the Lauderdale County sheriff's department said.

Miller and Sexton were captured by National Guardsmen armed with M-16 rifles in a clump of brush near U.S. 51 north of Covington.

Shuttle crew rescues satellite

CAPE CANVERAL, Fla.—Shouting “we got it,” Challenger’s astronauts plucked the costly Solar Max satellite from space Tuesday and set it in the shuttle’s cargo bay for an overhaul in orbit that ushers in an era of spacecraft salvage.

He snagged it on the first try, saving a mission that looked like a failure only two days earlier.

Administration cuts fiscal budget

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Reagan administration revised its budget forecast Tuesday to cut the projected deficit for this fiscal year $5.9 billion to $177.8 billion.

The slightly smaller deficit is attributed partly to the faster pace of the economic expansion than had been expected, which helps bring in more money to the government’s coffers.

The revision projects the economy will expand a healthy 5 percent this year. The administration was predicting a 4.5 percent expansion, as measured by the inflation-adjusted gross national product, from the fourth quarter of 1983 to the fourth quarter this year.

The administration also lowered its forecast for unemployment to 7.5 percent of the civilian-military workforce in the last quarter of 1984. It had been projected at 7.7 percent in February and March.

The projection also boosted the administration’s assumption for interest rates from 8.3 percent in the final quarter of this year. That is measured by rates on three-month Treasury bills, which were 9.66 percent in Monday’s auctions.

Ex-intelligence officer indicted

ALEXANDRIA (AP)—Former Army counter-intelligence officer Richard Craig Smith was held on $500,000 bond today after the government said he had volunteered information about his dealings with the Soviet KGB only when he thought they had been detected.

William Cummings, Smith’s court-appointed lawyer, argued that the financially strapped 40-year-old, Bellevue, Wash., man should be released on his own recognizance.

who set the bond, said, “The danger to the community is very apparent to me” if Smith were released on his own recognizance.

“He has the ability to seriously endanger the national defense. His cooperation when indictment is near is not always enlightenment,” Bryan said.

Smith, held without bond since his arrest by the FBI at Dulles International Airport Wednesday, was indicted Monday by a federal grand jury here.

Awareness committee to hold election forum

by Nancy Bridges

Students will have an opportunity to hear candidates for student government offices express their views on issues, Wednesday, during an election forum, Student Senate Speaker Ron Wesel said.

The student awareness committee is sponsoring the forum which will be conducted by committee co-chairman Missy Bell and committee member Judy Mangos.

Mangos said candidates for senate seats and executive officer positions will be introduced, then will be given the opportunity to give a short speech.

A question and answer period will follow the candidates' speeches, she added.

"We want to stay away from debate" during the question and answer time, she said.

Mangos said she does not know the exact number of candidates who will participate in the forum, but "hopefully they'll all come."

Senator Glenn Good and junior Joe Butler are competing for the office of student body president, the only contested executive officer race in the election.

Running unopposed for the other executive offices are senator Angelynn Richardson for executive vice president, senator Aaron Shepley for Board of Governors representative and Student Body President John Cole for financial vice president.

In addition, six seats are available in the off-campus district. The candidates are senator Mark Erwin, sophomore Julie Broom, junior Terra Yarbrough, senior Scott Martis, sophomore Dwayne Gunville and junior Pete Swanberg.

Four seats are open in the residence hall district. Candidates include junior Tammy Walker, freshman Kimberly Dumentat, junior Paula Johnson and junior Ken Gustin.

In addition, seven candidates will be elected in the at-large district. Candidates include Wesel, freshman Bruce Carpenter, freshman Becky Tichenor, junior Dave Ripp, senator Audrey Dumentat, sophomore Angela Grachan, freshman Carolyn Opolka and freshman Jan Donovan.

The forum will be conducted from 5:45 to 6:45 Wednesday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola room, Wesel said.

Panels to discuss policies of Reagan administration

by Dawn Stultz and Jeff Scott

Policies and practices of the Reagan Administration will be examined at the 10th Annual Illinois Public Policy Conference in the Union Wednesday through Friday.

Larry Thorsen, chairman of Eastern's political science department, said the conference will cover policies in economics, foreign relations, social issues and governmental administration and politics.

"The conference gives students a chance to hear experts discuss important issues of the day," he said. "These are not just political issues, but human issues which effect our everyday lives."

He said it will also give students the opportunity to be presented with different ideas and gain a broader perspective on controversial issues.

Authors of political research papers from all parts of the country will present findings on their specific topics and "two or three discussants will then be given about five minutes apiece to respond to the paper, topic or both," Thorsen added.

The conference will also feature four roundtable discussions. "The roundtable discussions have no formal presentation," Thorsen said. "The moderator throws out topics and the discussants respond."

The agenda for the first day of the conference will start with a panel identifying critical questions in health care delivery systems.

Thorsen said, "The panel is going to discuss basically the problems people have with paying for the health care they receive and the problems encountered in finding and choosing good doctors."

Thorsen added that these problems will be discussed at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m.

in the Union addition Charleston-Mattoon room.

Covering the topic of health care, Thorsen said, will be papers presented by Edwin Griffith, political science professor from East Carolina University, Greenville, North Carolina.

Thorsen said the second panel on Wednesday will begin at 11 a.m. giving an overview of Reagan's policies and views on health care issues.

Abdul Lateef, of the political science department, will present a paper discussing American foreign policy in the trouble areas of the Middle East to the panel in the Union addition Casey room.

At 1 p.m. Wednesday, he said, Seth Anderson of Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, North Carolina will present a paper concerning Reagan's theological perspectives on near monopoly.

Thorsen said, "This is a Christian application of ethics in economics concerning monopolies."

The impact of federalism on Illinois cities, Thorsen said, will be discussed at 2 p.m. in the Union addition Casey room by Jeff Humphrey and Glenn Smith of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale.

The panel will be discussing the dependence of Illinois cities on federal aid in providing services for its citizens, Thorsen said.

"Under the Reagan administration, some of these monies have been drying up, and the panel will try to discuss possible solutions that cities may have to take in the future," Thorsen added.

Admission to all sessions of the conference is free to Eastern students and faculty, although a registration fee of $10 is being charged to the public.

Faculty Senate

Petitions to be circulated

by Charlotte Arnold

The Faculty Senate Tuesday unanimously decided to circulate salary increase petitions among Eastern's teaching faculty later this week.

The petition will be used to reinforce the senate's position paper supporting salary increases for faculty members.

Senate Vice President John LeDuc said that Margaret Schmidt, United Professionals of Illinois president, has indicated that, "The union isn't likely to take advice from the senate," concerning the faculty salary issue.

The petition reads "We the undersigned members of the teaching faculty at Eastern, urge that the University Administration and the UPI take the appropriate action in concert with officials in Springfield to implement the equity increase suggested."

Chairman Richard Goodrick said the senate submitted a position paper to state legislators; the Board of Governors, Eastern's controlling board, and the Illinois Board of Higher Education.

The paper recommends a series of one-percent increases, along with any additional BOG increases to allow Eastern's faculty salaries to catch up to those of other BOG schools.

LeDuc, who attended Monday's UPI meeting, said, "The tone was tremendously different. They are beginning to change, or at least worry about making us think they're beginning to change (concerning the salary increase issue)," LeDuc said.

Senate members will circulate the petitions to staff members, Goodrick said.

In other business, Robert Whittenbarger, sociology department chairman, reported on the March 30 meeting of the Illinois Board of Higher Education Advisory committee.

The meeting concerned the present state of the Illinois State Scholarship Commission. Whittenbarger assessed the condition as hopeless for "an increase in any proportion that is greater than any increase in need."

Cure injustice of senate GPA policy

Injustice appropriately describes the denial of a student's request to serve as a student senator because he possesses a grade point average between 2.3 and 2.0.

Currently, the student government constitution dictates that an Eastern student must have at least a 2.3 GPA to run for a senate seat, which leaves anyone with an average below 2.3 but above 2.0 out in the cold.

Editorial

We urge Eastern students to change this current regulation by voting "yes" to a referendum on the April 18 student government election ballot.

The referendum states that any student is eligible to serve as an executive officer or senator if he is in good academic standing with the university, which is a 2.0 GPA.

Eastern students voted to implement the 2.3 GPA regulation in April 1981. Previously, any student could qualify to serve as a senator if he had a 2.0 GPA, but senate members believed the regulation should be stricter to ensure that more talented, intellectual students were elected to senate.

Poppycock. Grade point averages do not always accurately portray a student's intellect and personality. A student could have had difficulty adjusting to college during his first semesters and unfortunately got stuck with a low GPA.

And since the 2.3 GPA regulation was passed, the competition for executive officer and senator seats has declined to the point that for the April 18 election, only one of five executive office positions is contested. More startling is the fact that only 18 students are vying for 17 senator seats.

By lowering the required GPA to what the university considers "good standing," more students would be eligible to run for a seat, which might create the potential for more interest in student government.

Although a specific number of students that have been affected by the 2.3 regulation could not be obtained, five students who were elected to the senate last spring were forced to resign because they did not have a 2.3 GPA.

Those five students were interested in serving as senators, but were denied the opportunity because of their GPAs. There could be many students who believe they could best represent and serve the student populace as a senator or executive officer, but cannot do so because of a possible 2.05, 2.16, or 2.24 GPA.

It's time for Eastern students to end the injustice of the senate's 2.3 GPA requirement. Voting "yes" to changing the GPA minimum to 2.0 could create more interest in student government, which also could lead to a more effective and efficient student government.

Slang can mislead not only people but chickens too

There is a slang term being used on campus that has caught my attention over the past week just as much as watching Cubs and White Sox baseball did over the weekend.

I was unfamiliar with this term, but I heard people use it often enough that my curiosity begged me to ask a couple of my friends what the term meant.

"Hey Craig, What's a geek? No, not Greek. Geek," I asked.

Although some people think that Greeks and geeks frequent the same social circles, they are different. I do know that much.

Craig explained a geek as "someone who farts in the bathtub." At this point, I doubted he really knew what a geek was. What do you think a geek is John?

"Well, a geek is also somebody who has your party busted by the cops because he wasn't invited. Now that's a geek," John said.

I drew the immediate conclusion that a geek is not a person who is very popular in social circles, nor is he viewed the same by everyone.

Whatever a geek may be to you, there really is such a word that describes a person. And unfortunately it is not very flattering in the literal sense.

Ray Bradbury wrote a book called, "Something Wicked This Way Comes." Sound familiar? In the book, the traditional definition of a geek is illustrated.

Bradbury describes a geek as a crazy person that travels with carnivals. He dwells in a portable pit and he chomps off the heads of live chickens that are supplied to him by the people who came to see the moron eat them.

That's not my idea of fun at a party! Or fun anywhere else for that matter.

But, I still wasn't convinced that this could be the actual meaning of geek. I decided to look it up in the dictionary. For all you people out there with pocket dictionaries, close 'em because it is not in any of them.

I finally found geek in one of those dictionaries that have more words in them than anyone could ever use in a lifetime.

According to "Webster's New Third International Dictionary," a geek "is a carnival performer often billed as a wild man whose act usually includes biting the head off a live chicken or snake."

So it was the right definition.

It seems that we very often use slang terms and phrases when we don't know what they mean. If it sounds fitting enough for the occasion we use them and then we take a liking to these words until they become overused. Remember "awesome" and "turkey?"

Is geek going to be another one of those slang slurs?

Now that I know what a geek really means, I think I'll use it only in the presence of real geeks.

Ormiston reflects on fun of coming of age

As one travels down the dusty, pothole-ridden road of life, one looks forward to certain ages that establish us in society. Well I've reached the peak age that at one time everyone in their youth dreams about. I'm finally 21.

Back in those thrilling days of yesteryear, before I was a teenager, my main goal in life was to make it to age 13 without being killed by the neighborhood bully. Teenagers were considered cool, neat and keen by the 10 and 11 year-olds on the block. But something was missing at that tender age.

How can you make it with the girls in high school if you can't cruise the town on a Saturday night? Oh, to be 16.

Although it seemed that the few years between 13 and 16 dragged on forever, the day finally arrived. And so did the blue slip that said I passed drivers' education.

After the novelty of having Jim Edgar's little piece of plastic wore off, and the folks let "the family car" out of the garage a little more often, the young speed demon in me found out that there was more to do in a car after dark than just run errands to the grocery store.

The age of 17 brought more mature thoughts of cruising down main street with the radio blasting, scoping for women (or were they girls?), spinning doughnuts on the hated neighbors' lawn while sipping every parents' nightmare—beer.

But cruising the town gets old, too.

There wasn't a whole heck of a lot you could do at 18 that you couldn't do when you were 16. Oh yeah, you could vote, but us younger folk don't vote anyway.

Now learning that well-established form of fun, drinking,

Looking through the lens

became easier. Upon learning how to drink, the word "road trip" was introduced into my vocabulary. Thus, enter the Friday afternoon debate in the cafeteria: "Ok, who can get the car tonight?" and "Did your old man check the mileage on the car?" All that for the sake of a road trip to the great state of Wisconsin, where the drinking age is 18.

After a few months of the Wisconsin bit, the gas and one too many run-in's with the state police got a bit old. The thought of 21 popped into my mischievous high school mind. Which brings us up to April 1984.

The magic number is finally on the driver's license.

At this point in life, they say adulthood sets in.

I'm an adult. Big deal. Last Thursday, I wasn't, but Friday I was. Thursday, I could not drink, (at least not legally) but Friday I could. It's weird how a person can mature over night.

As an adult, I really have only one demand of society. I want to be treated like an adult.

But when I screw up every once in a while, like bounce a check or something, I still want to be able to revert back to the old saying, "Hey, give me a break, I'm in college."

Council tables proposal for two-hour gym course

by Amy Landers

A proposal to implement a two-hour gymnastics course as a requirement for physical education majors was tabled Tuesday by the Council on Teacher Education.

Walter Lowell, dean of the School of Health, Physical Education and Recreation, proposed that COTE drop gymnastic courses 1680 "Bowling," and 1681 "Gymnasitics Apparatus," which are currently required in the grades 6-12 physical education teacher program.

Lowell suggested that COTE substitute gymnastics 2105 "Techniques and Analysis of Stunts, Tumbling, and Gymnastics," a two hour course.

"The course gives physical education students a greater opportunity to learn safety and spotting techniques," Lowell said.

J.W. Sanders, physical education instructor, agreed that the course teaches stronger techniques and teaching skills and also provides time for the students to take other courses.

In addition, Lowell proposed that the six one-hour activities courses required for physical education majors be changed to five or six activities courses.

Both proposals were tabled to be voted on at the April 24 COTE meeting.

In other business, Doug Meyer, of the geography/geology department, proposed that COTE revise the secondary option in geography for special education majors to include Social Science 3400 "Methods and Materials in the Social Studies in the Secondary School."

The previously approved secondary option in geography for special education majors did not include a methods course, which is required for teacher certification by the state of Illinois.

The proposal was tabled to be voted on at a later COTE meeting.

Pulitzer winner to lecture on international reporting

Loren Jenkins, a foreign correspondent for the Washington Post, is scheduled to speak Wednesday, Mary Gaulke, University Board lecture coordinator, said.

The UB and journalism department are co-sponsoring the lecture in conjunction with Journalism Week, Gaulke said.

Journalism Department Chairman Daniel Thornburgh said Jenkins will be speaking about his past experiences in the field of journalism.

Thornburgh also noted that Jenkins has received a Pulitzer Prize for his international reporting. In addition, Gaulke said that Jenkins was the recipient of the George Polk Award for International Reporting.

Thornburgh said he encourages all journalism students and students interested in foreign policy to attend the lecture.

Jenkins is scheduled to speak at 8 p.m. Wednesday in the University Grand Ballroom. Admission is free to all students with a valid ID, but $4 will be charged to the general public.

AB's decision to end ISA fee will be studied

The Student Senate Wednesday will discuss the Apportionment Board's decisions concerning the student government budget, Senate Speaker Ron Wesel said.

Wesel said the senate will pay particular attention to the AB decision to cut a budget allocation which was requested to provide membership fees to the Illinois Student Association.

The AB "in essence decided we weren't going to be in ISA," he added.

Wesel said he believed AB members were not aware of the benefits ISA has provided for Eastern. "I regret that I didn't get to the (AB) meeting in time to justify it (ISA)," he said.

The senate is scheduled to meet at 7 p.m. Wednesday in the Union addition Arcola-Tuscola room.

What

The Warbler is the only book to cover the past year at Eastern. Its 368 pages, including some in color, review sports, bars, residence halls, classes among the spectrum of topics.

How

Bring your I.D. to 126 N. Buzzard Building during the hours of distribution. Also check below to see if you owe money.

When

Students who registered for a Warbler may pick them up between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Today or Thursday. Friday any books left will be available to everyone.

How Much

Full-time two semesters	FREE
Full-time one semester and summer	$1.75
Full-time one semester	$3.50
Summer only	$5.25
No full-time credit	$7.00

Save Time

Most people stop by between classes. To avoid the hourly rushes try to pick up the yearbook between quarter after the hour and twenty minutes before the hour.

Questions

We will be happy to answer any questions about distribution or the book. But, because of the hectic pace of distribution we ask that you stop by the office instead of calling when possible. If you can't get to the office our number is 581-2812.

Folk art exhibit slated to open April 15 at TAC

by Julie Jackson

A traveling exhibition, profiling over 90 folk artists, is scheduled to open at the Tarble Arts Center April 15, Exhibit Coordinator Phillip Settle, said.

The exhibit, titled, "Folk Artists and Folk Arts in Eastcentral and Southeastern Illinois: A Profile," will include visual artists, craftsmen, musicians, and poets, Settle said.

He added that the exhibition will be conducted April 15, 28 and 29 and May 5.

He added that "all of the artists are living, or have lived, within an area bordered on the east and south by the state line, on the north by Danville, and on the west by Decatur and Interstate 57."

Many older arts and trades, including examples of painting, blacksmithing, broommaking and lacemaking, will be displayed at the exhibition, he noted.

Settle added that students may also view displays of bent-willow furniture making, whittling and gunsmithing.

Settle said that the exhibition culminates a series of field research projects funded by grants from the National endowment for the Arts and the Charles E. Merrill Trust.

News receives high rating

by Carl Pugliese

For the fourth consecutive semester, The Daily Eastern News has received a five-star rating of excellence from the Associated Collegiate Press.

Steve Binder, former News editor in chief, said receiving the award is an "indication that the News maintained its tradition of high quality and high standards."

In addition, Madeleine Doubek, current editor in chief, said, "I'm ecstatic we've been able to continue the tradition of the five-star All-American rating."

Binder said that of the 600 colleges and universities which belong to the ACP, only 40 to 50 receive five-star ratings.

The News is now eligible to be a regional pacemaker winner, he added. If the News receives a regional award, it will be eligible for a national Pacemaker award.

The News has won a regional All-American award for the last two years. Last year, the News received a national Pacemaker award.

Binder said the News was judged on the quality of story content, advertising, design, photographs and opinion.

"STUDENTS PROGRAMMING FOR STUDENTS"

UB Lectures Presents

Loren Jenkins

Pulitzer Prize winner, Loren Jenkins will be presented tonight at 8 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom.

Eastern students with valid ID's may attend this lecture at no cost. General public admission is $4.00 per person.

After a year in graduate school at Columbia University studying political theory and international affairs, Jenkins set out to be a foreign correspondent. He began his journalism career with a three-month stint on a small Westchester County Daily, then joined the United Press International as a reporter covering New York City news.

After a year in New York, he was assigned to Europe by UPI. In the following three years, Jenkins worked for the wire service in their offices in London, Madrid and Paris.

In 1969, he joined Newsweek magazine. During the next decade, he worked for Newsweek as a special correspondent in Spain, then as bureau chief in Beirut, Hong Kong, Saigon and Rome. Since 1980 Jenkins has been roving foreign correspondent for the Washington Post Office in Rome.

Among the major world events he has covered are the collapse of the Franco regime in Spain, the May 1968 upheavals in Paris and the resulting demise of President de Gaulle.

Jenkins was one of four correspondents for Newsweek who won the 1976 Overseas Press Club Award for its coverage of the Lebanese Civil War. For his reporting of the Shatila massacre in Beirut last fall, Jenkins won the Pulitzer Prize in international reporting. Join Loren Jenkins for an insiders view of international events and reporting.

Richard Pryor Here and Now

The king of comedy, Richard Pryor, delivers yet another brilliant on-stage performance which reflects the comedian's fresh outlook on life. Pryor dives headfirst into the topical issues that are his trademarks — racism, politics, unemployment, sex and drugs addressed with a mixture of wit, warmth, insight and a colorful delivery. Written, directed and performed solely by Pryor, Richard Pryor Here and Now goes behind the scenes with the man and discusses intimately his new life.

*(Highest rating)

—Roger Ebert, Chicago Sun Times

"Another comedy triumph for Richard Pryor and one of those rare films that make you laugh out loud, sometimes uncontrollably."

—Gene Siskel, Chicago Tribune

"He is purposely outrageous ... The fact remains Pryor is a shaman telling tales with lessons. He speaks parables of modern times with modern language. Teaching without dogma, a minister without a church who uses laughter to reveal the awful truth."

—San Francisco Chronicle

"The funniest man alive ... sharp, relaxed a natural extension of a quick witted personality."

—Don Mcleese, Chicago Sun Times

If you are looking for hilarious way to spend Friday night, Richard Pryor's Here and Now is the movie for you. Here and Now will be shown at 6:30 and 9:00 p.m. in the Grand Ballroom. Admission is $1.50 per person.

Something Special Just for You!

The Human Potential Committee will present a Variety Show tomorrow night at 7 in the Grand Ballroom. The show will take you back down memory lane to high school days.

The show, entitled "Something Old, Something New, Something Special Just for You," will feature the following scenes: Fashions by Jas Ann — featuring Jennifer Jones and Christopher Eatmon, Singing — featuring Shernita Banks, Cheerleading Routines — featuring Barbara Hudson, Sharon Stevens, Jackie Campbell, Darla Rice, Beverly Patton, Lisa Moore, and Angie Jackson, A Hot Mix Dance — coordinated by Victor Marshall and Oldies but Goodies Songs — coordinated by Damon Wilson.

You can enjoy a night of pleasant memories. There will also be a nostalgia contest. Participants will dress in the following categories: Kiddie Corner, The Roaring 50's, School Spirit and Favorite Star Impersonation.

Merry Watson, Human Potential Coordinator said, "We hope to offer a different program for black students on campus. I want them to get something meaningful from the show as well as have a good time."

Wet grounds cancel game

Eastern's softball team had another game cancelled due to the wet conditions of the playing field. The Panthers were scheduled to play a double-header against Southern Illinois University-Carbondale at 2 p.m. Tuesday, but Monday's rain was more than Lantz Field could handle.

Eastern, 8-9 overall and 2-2 in the conference, resumes its schedule at 2 p.m. Friday in Macomb against Western Illinois University in a Gateway Collegiate Athletic Conference match up.

Netters top Sangamon State, 8-1

by Frank Polich

Everything Sangamon State University did Tuesday played right into the hands of Eastern's men's tennis team. And it was the Panthers who handed Sangamon an 8-1 loss.

No. 1 singles player Jay Johnson paced the Panthers with a 6-4, 6-3 win over Sangamon's David Roesler.

"Jay broke service once in each of the two games," Eastern head coach Carl Sexton noted. "That enabled him to win the second set 6-3."

Rob Hopkins, the Panthers' No. 2 player had "a good close match" defeating Hank Lystad 6-3, 6-1. "All our players played consistently well today," Sexton added.

Scott Fjelstad (No. 3 singles) and Eric Laffey (No. 5 singles) both destroyed their opponents by identical 6-0, 6-1 scores.

John Suter, in his usual No. 4 position, easily handled Ron Cason 6-2, 6-0 and the Panthers took off from there.

From the outset of the match, No. 6 player Dan Patrick looked as though he was to have a chance to end a perfect sweep of singles.

He did, but not in the usual fashion. Just before the start of the match, Sangamon's No. 6 player quit the club enabling Patrick to win by default. Sexton said he did not know why the No. 6 player walked out of the match.

The Panthers continued their winning ways in doubles play when the No. 2 team of Suter and Laffey trounced Cason and Carter Ransom 6-0, 6-2.

The No. 3 doubles team of Patrick and Steve Albright won by forfeit and held their perfect-match record intact.

The No. 1 doubles team of Johnson and Fjelstad, however, tallied Eastern's only loss of the day.

"They had good quality players at No. 1 and 2. Put them together and it added up to a tough loss for us," Sexton noted. Johnson and Fjelstad lost to Roesler and Sean Burns 6-4, 6-2.

North Stars oust Hawks

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP)—Dennis Maruk scored twice to lift Minnesota over Chicago 4-1 Tuesday night and into the next round of the National Hockey League playoffs.

Minnesota outshot Chicago 41-21 in the deciding fifth game and now plays St. Louis in a best-of-seven Norris division title series, which starts Thursday.

It's the first time in three seasons that the Black Hawks haven't ousted the North Stars from the playoffs.

Chicago was victorious in the two teams' previous meetings in the playoffs, winning three games to one in a best-of-five in 1982 and four games to one in the Norris Division finals last year.

Minnesota snatched a 2-0 edge in the first period. Maruk scored first, backhanding a short-handed goal between Chicago goalie Murray Bannerman's legs 2:50 into the game.

George Ferguson then padded the North Star advantage when he skated across the blue line and rifled in a 35-foot slap shot nine minutes later.

But only 53 seconds into the second period, the Black Hawks made it 2-1 on a power play. Bob Murray's shot from just inside the blue line weaved through traffic and past Minnesota goaltender Don Beaupre.

Minnesota went up 3-1 with five minutes to go in the second period. Tom McCarthy slid a pass by sprawling Black Hawk defender Doug Wilson and Dino Ciccarelli whacked it in from the corner of the crease.

Maruk added an empty-net goal with 24 seconds to go to ice the victory for the North Stars and their first appearance in a Division final since 1981.

Bannerman ended up with 38 saves, while Beaupre turned aside 20 shots, including a handful of dazzling saves in the final period.

Illini get fast start, hold off Panthers 9-6

by Jeff Long

CHAMPAIGN—Eastern's baseball team got rocked early and never fully recovered Tuesday as the University of Illinois handed the Panthers their fifth setback of the season with a 9-6 victory.

The early damage came in the first inning at the expense of Panther righthander Mike Steinkamp, who started on the mound for Eastern.

Steinkamp, who entered the contest with a 34.0 earned run average, was shelled with six runs and five hits in 1/3 of an inning as the Illini jumped out to a quick 6-1 advantage.

The Panthers got on the scoreboard first via a sacrifice fly by junior Monty Aldrich to score senior Brian Jones, who had walked and advanced to third base.

Another righthander Jim Wilkins replaced Steinkamp on the mound during the first inning. Wilkins, coming off of a one-hitter Friday in the Panthers' 8-0 victory over Indiana State University-Evansville, shut down the Illini offense, giving up only three hits in 5 1/3 innings pitched.

"Wilkins pitched a fine game," Eastern head coach Tom McDevitt said. "He gave us a chance to get back in the ballgame."

Eastern was able to close the gap to 6-4 in the sixth inning after a three-run homer by outfielder Mike Rooney.

The Panthers continued to rally in the seventh inning, knotting the score at 6-6 when Kevin Smith grounded into a double play to score one run. Rooney then followed with a single for his fourth RBI in the game.

But the Illini notched the contest in the eighth inning when a bases-loaded triple off reliever Paul Skorupa gave Illinois three runs for the win. Wilkins, although yielding only one of the Illini runs, took the loss.

Richardson paces golfers to two third-place finishes

by Ken Dickson

The men's golf team, behind fourth and second place finishes by junior Brent Richardson, settled for third place in two invitational tournaments last weekend.

The Panthers finished third out of 10 teams at the Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville Invitational April 7 and third out of 11 teams at the Indianapolis Intercollegiate Invitational April 9.

Richardson was Eastern's medalist in both tournaments. He had scores of 72 and 78 for a total 150 in the first meet and rounds of 73 and 78 for a 151 total in the second.

"Since they were the first tournaments of the spring we played pretty well," Eastern golf coach Kevin Anglin said.

"We hope to do well this year, and these invitationals offer us some competition before the conference meet."

The competition Anglin referred to was Western Illinois University, which has won the Association of Mid-Continent University's conference tournament for the past five years, and finished second at Edwardsville.

Ball State University, which is considered one of the best Division I golf schools in the country, and Wittenberg University, a former Division III national champion, showed their overall prowess by finishing first and second in the Indianapolis tournament.

Ball State completed the two-day, 36-hole event 43 strokes ahead of Wittenberg and 54 strokes ahead of Eastern. Western finished second behind host SIU-Edwardsville in the April 7 meet and is once again considered to be the conference favorite in the eyes of some. But, not Anglin.

Even though Western finished ahead of the Panthers at Edwardsville, Anglin said, "I don't think it meant very much. Ron Hoffman (Eastern sophomore) will be a factor at the conference tournament and he wasn't able to make this trip due to his class schedule. We had to count an 82 and an 83 in Friday's and Saturday's rounds, and I think Ron will give us rounds of 75's or 76's."

The Eastern golf season, which consists of a non-conference dual or an invitational meet each weekend, will serve as warm-up for the Panthers' main objective—the AMCU conference meet to be held at Mattoon Country Club April 29.
